

Course Name: Spanish Language
Universidad Francisco de Vitoria

Level: B1-B2 - Low Intermediate – Intermediate

Contact Hours: 45.0

Prerequisites: Possess the complete A2 Level or a low B1 level.

Objectives:

To be able to understand the principle ideas of complex texts that address concrete as well as abstract themes, including if they are of a technical character, when they are within the frame of specialization. To be able to relate with native speakers with a sufficient grade of fluency and with ease so that the interaction occurs without there being a great effort made by either one of the two conversing. To be able to produce clear and detailed texts about diverse themes, as well as defending a point of view about general themes indicating pros and cons behind various.

Description of the Course:

Regards, and introductions. My classmates and I. Where I come from and what my home is like. To speak about what one has done recently. Express personal tastes and preferences. Express opinions. Give and follow directions. Ask if something is or is not obligatory. Speak about future goals. Speak about a television show. Express opinions about the future. React, express preferences, emotions and opinions. Express an opinion, and whether one agrees or disagrees. To evaluate and justify an opinion or idea. To provide information. Resources to use while speaking with people: the majority, a great many... Refer to past actions. To speak about past achievements. To refer to events and circumstances of the past. To react to a story. To explain the causes and effects of an action. Explain the ending of an action. Vocabulary to speak about trips and baggage. Express interest and surprise about an activity that another person has realized. Assess the positive and negative aspects of something. To request something on loan. To refuse or accept a request. To speak about other people and one's relation to them. To speak about similarities and differences between people. To speak about feelings and about reactions that provoke us. To speak about oneself as well as about others. To request a service. To express desires or needs. To ask for permission. To speak about past achievements and relate them to the present. To speak about the consequences of an event. To speak about the causes and circumstances leading up to an event. To express estrangement, surprise, opposition, happiness. To speak about the purpose of an action. To speak about the relevancy of an opinion.

Bibliography:

Sueña 2, Grupo Anaya. Destino Erasmus 2, SGEL, 2009. Uso de la gramática española, nivel intermedio, Edelsa.

Methodology:

Theoretical part with communicative activities such as interactive games, simulations, discussions about texts and tangible objects, debates, songs, audiovisual materials, etc.

Grading:

Attendance and active participation: 5%. Practical assignments: 20%. Final exam: 75%